Programme in English
Under NEP (2020)
Batch 2025 onwards

1/2yr Master's (PG) Degree Programme in English

Department of English
2nd Floor, Humanities Block
University of Kashmir
Hazratbal, Srinagar-190006

The MA Programme in English is one of the most sought-after postgraduate programs at the University of Kashmir. This is partly due to the primacy of English as a global language and its efficacy in today's world culture. Students aspire to attain competence in English language and literature in order to equip themselves with the necessary literary and communicative skills. A postgraduate degree in English also enables placement in various public and private sectors especially the Higher Education Department, J&K Govt. We are aware of our role in disseminating the right academic and professional expertise and design our curriculum in accordance with local and global requirements.

The present MA programme to commence from August 2025 is in compliance with NEP 2020 guidelines which emphasize flexibility, multidisciplinary learning, and a focus on outcomes. The policy also encourages a move away from rote learning towards critical thinking, creative insights, and the development of practical skills.

Keeping in view the above points, the syllabus has been framed keeping in view the importance of English as a global language but equally, regional varieties of English have been given due representation. Kashmiri literature in translation, Urdu /Persian Poetry in translation are some important courses that make students aware of their own linguistic and cultural heritage. Further, the aim of the programme is to familiarize students with major canonical literary works from the European and American Traditions in order to build a foundational knowledge of these important cultural traditions. The programme also offers multiple courses in other English literatures namely Indian, African, Canadian and other South Asian literatures. This will enable students to recognize the diversification of English and its implications for a more broad-based approach to English literary Studies. There is also a thrust on interdisciplinary learning and skill-based courses including Language and Linguistics, Writing Skills etc. which are aimed to develop linguistic competence and language skills.

The programme includes Core courses and Discipline Centric Electives. The range and scope of these courses is wide and care has been taken to include the most important and crucial courses for a well-rounded curriculum. In addition, students will be introduced to important literary movements and genres and various stylistic and narrative methods. Courses also have a bearing on socio-ethical concerns like Gender, Disability, Environment etc.

Programme Learning Outcomes of the MA Programme in English:

1. To develop students' expertise in English literary studies by providing a range of literary texts representing diverse traditions.
2. To enable students to appreciate the distinctness of literary texts and develop their critical and analytical skills in the interpretation of texts.
3. To enable students to appreciate regional literary traditions and thereby create awareness about cultural identity.

4. To introduce students to literary theory from Classical to Contemporary times in order to supplement their reading of texts with critical tools and methods.
5. To introduce students to Linguistics, phonetics and Applied English in order to develop professional competence in English Language Skills and pedagogy.
6. To introduce students to the ideological, philosophical and cultural underpinnings of literary texts.
7. To train students in written and spoken academic English as well as proficiency in other forms of creative writing.
8. To enable students to develop appropriate research topics, select appropriate secondary research material and write a well-developed piece of original research following discipline specific writing conventions.
9. To prepare students for competitive examinations like NET, SET and the Civil Services.
10. To raise awareness in students about social and political concerns through courses on Gender, Environment, Social justice, Disability Studies etc.
11. To prepare students for employment in the private as well as public sectors.

Syllabus for Master's Degree Programme in English under NEP-2020 to be implemented from August, 2025 onwards.

SEMESTER-IV
RESEARCH PROJECT WITH DISSERTATION
MENGPDI425: ENGLISH _ PROJECT WITH DISSERTATION

CREDITS: 16
MAX. MARKS: 400

Course Learning Outcomes (CLOs):

- CLO1: Students will get an insight into selecting a meaningful research topic and developing a clear and focused abstract or synopsis that defines the direction of their dissertation.
- CLO2: Students will learn how to apply appropriate research methods and tools to support their critical argument and analysis.
- CLO3: Students will understand the importance of structure, academic language and proper MLA citation style in presenting scholarly work.
- CLO4: Students will develop confidence in presenting their research findings and defending their arguments effectively during the viva.

- The 4th semester will have an alternative to course work for students who wish to pursue research. Students will have to submit a written dissertation which will be based on a research topic mutually decided by student and allotted supervisor. It will follow the MLA style (9th edition). The word limit will be 15000-20000 words.
- Mode of Evaluation:
The dissertation will be evaluated by an external examiner. The student will also have to defend the dissertation in a viva-voce examination.
