c. Future Research

I have been regularly teaching as Adhoc Assistant Professor in the Department of English and have got excellent reviews for pedagogy and teaching effectiveness from both faculty as well as the students.

Other work relevant to the qualifications for the post applied for:

I have Excellent leadership and communication skills and I have been the CR both in my BA Honors Course and MA from Punjab University. I have also been active in the Jammu University as Junior Research Fellow under the Guidance of my HOD for organizing Seminars, paper Readings, Extempore competitions and creative writing exercises. I can provide my managerial skills and my capacity to organize events and my creative ideas to help the department achieve new heights.

The subject of my Phd is Comparative Literature of an Indo-Canadian Writer in collaboration with Shastri Institute of Indo-Canadian Studies and this knowledge can be used for improving the quality of teaching in special credit papers like Australian Literature, American, African and Canadian Literature on which University has limited faculty.

I also would like to transliterate and translate some works of Allama-Iqbal and other Writers in languages like Kashmiri, Persian and Arabic in English so that comparative Research can be done in the seareas.

I also have a specialization in Linguistics, Shakespearean Literature and Drama and native / Gender Studies which can make me useful asset to the department.

I have been regularly associated with research, preparation of e-modules for Bureaucrats of KAS Services and officers of various departments in the field of Communication Skills, Noting Drafting and Soft Skills.
